Negotiations to End Civil War Are Begun

DUBLIN — (Associated Press) — A truce between the rival Irish republic army forces has been declared. It was announced this afternoon.

The truce is operative from four o'clock this afternoon until four p. m., Monday with a view to giving both sections of the army an immediate opportunity to discuss a basis for army unification.

The provisions of the truce are: Clause 1—All operations except training and ordinary army routine will cease.

BELFAST — (United Press) — Border warfare between Ulster constabulary and Irish Republican army irregulars flared up again today on the heels of announcement from Dublin, that the rebels had agreed to a truce with the free state.

Several police patrols in County Tyrone and County Derry were ambushed, one constable being killed and a number wounded. Widespread incendiarism was reported from the Limerick district of North Derry last night. Flax mills belonging to Unionists were burned down and thousands of pounds damage caused.

Five state troops arrived on the scene while the raid was in progress but the raiders managed to escape in a lorry with considerable booty.

BONUS O. K. ASKED

Senate Bill Referred to Harding By Committee

WASHINGTON — (Associated Press) — Chairman McCumber of the senate finance committee was authorized formally today by the majority of that committee to present his soldiers' bonus plan, with the bank loan provision, to President Harding as the committee's plan.

Senator Smoot, Republican Utah, however, informed the committee-men that he also would lay before the president his bonus plan which contemplates a 20 years endowment life insurance plan without any specific provision for loans to be made to veterans.

Chairman McCumber will be accompanied to the White House by several other members of the committee majority. He will ask Mr. Harding to approve the committee draft of the bonus which differs little from the house measure, except that the so-called reclamation provision is eliminated.

INTERURBAN SERVICE TIED UP BY STRIKE

STEUBENVILLE — Service on two local lines and on the Steubenville, East Liverpool Interurban suspended at 10 a. m., today, when carmen run their cars into the barns here, having voted unanimously to reject the company's wage proffer, carrying a ten per cent reduction and non recognition of the union, by the Steubenville, East Liverpool and Beaver Valley Traction Company.

SCENES OF WARFARE IN CHINESE REPUBLIC

Chinese troopers and regiments of cavalry, infantry and artillery.

CHINA WARNED BY FOREIGN LANDS

Other Nations Protest Against Fighting Around Peking

U. S. PARLEY PLANS UPSET

Commissions Named at Washington Postpone Action

PEKING — (Associated Press) — General Wu Pei-fu's forces were driven five miles further from Peking yesterday in an attack on Changshintien by the Fentieners under General Chang Tso-Lin.

General Chang has acknowledged the mandate issued by President Hsu Shih-Chang, calling on both sides to withdraw to their original positions and declares his readiness to end the fighting if Wu Pei-fu and Tsoo Kun agree.

President Hsu Shih-Chang made another effort today to end the hostilities when, after a meeting of the cabinet, he sent telegrams to both generals appealing to them to consider the welfare of China and end the civil war.

FOREIGN PROTESTS
The telegrams called attention to three notes handed to the Chinese government by the foreign representatives here, protesting against the fighting in the vicinity of Peking and warning of the serious consequences to China should foreigners suffer from the hostilities.

As the diplomatic body has given three warnings to the government regarding the present war, the communication said, "the rival leaders should set aside their personal differences and strive to live up to the expectations of the powers. As both leaders favor unification of the north and south, they should suspend their war at once and discuss with the government the procedure of negotiations."

FINANCES RUN LOW
The cabinet at its session also discussed the financial situation of the government. It was disclosed that the total resources of the Peking administration are now about 150,000 silver dollars monthly, a sum scarcely sufficient to pay the expenses of the city of Peking.

Owing to the hostilities, almost all of the plans regarding China made at the Washington conference have been suspended. The Chinese official appointed to take over the British naval base at Wei-Pai-Wei has suggested postponement of the date of assumption, and the Chinese commission which was expected to meet a similar Japanese body to arrange for the restitution of Shantung has also deferred the meeting.

Likewise, all the international commissions which were arranged at Washington to consider Chinese customs, the extra-territorial system and the withdrawal of foreign troops have suspended their plan to convene in China in the immediate future.

Most of the Chinese newspapers decry the fighting, which they declare harmful to the country, whichever side wins. They assert that China will never be prosperous until freed of rival military leaders.

GIRL IS MISSING; LEAVES NOTE

Eloped With Piquad; Father of Gladys Brookman Fears

Decked out in Sunday raiment, with pink flowers on her hat and a cloak over her black skirt and green waist, Gladys Brookman, 15, of 741 S. Central-av., fared forth Wednesday at 2:15 a. m. to meet her hero.

All her parents knew of her whereabouts is a small note left on the dining room table. It reads: "I have gone to meet him." The "him" referred to is believed by her father, George Brookman, to be Oliver Vannuzi, Piquad youth, whom he said Gladys had been communicating with by letter.

Gladys is tall for 15 years of age and able to take care of herself, her father said in his report to police.

An elopement is feared. The Piquad had been leaving since Gladys' heart for months. Her people believe that in one of his letters he urged the girl to flee with him.

Piquad authorities have been notified to head off the case of "puppy love."

Gladys quietly gathered some of her clothing together, crept downstairs, raised a window downstairs and fled into the darkness, her father told police.

BEVERIDGE BOOM IS LAUNCHED

Indiana Senate Nominee May Run for Presidency

PRIMARY MAJORITY GROWS

His Vote Expected to Exceed New by Over 20,000

(BY FRED G. JOHNSTON)
INDIANAPOLIS — (United Press) — "Beveridge for president in 1924" was the battle cry of the Hoosier Bull Moose today, flush from victory of their leader over Senator Harry S. New.

Albert J. Beveridge's defeat of the close friend and supporter of President Harding for the Republican nomination for United States senator, was the most astounding upset in Indiana's political history. A realignment of political forces in the state is sure to follow.

Messages of congratulation received by Beveridge from former Bull Moose leaders convinced his close followers that if he is successful in defeating Samuel Ralston, Democrat, at the November election, his candidacy for president would receive widespread support from progressives of both parties.

WATSON BLAMED
Practically complete figures on the election, compiled unofficially today, showed Beveridge the winner by a majority of approximately 20,000. The vote with 143 precincts out of 3,382 yet to be heard from was: Beveridge 137,733; New 163,753.

The Old Guard Republicans, supporting New, in looking for the cause of the startling defeat of the senator for renomination, stopped their search on turning to James Eli Watson, the other Indiana senator.

Watson's ambition to control the Republican organization in Indiana and not divide the control with New as he has been doing, caused him to knife his colleague, New's supporters bitterly claimed.

CHARGE DENIED
Watson's hand in the fact that Beveridge carried all but two counties in the sixth congressional district, in which Watson lives. Every county in the ninth district, home of John Owen, Watson's political manager, went for Beveridge.

Watson's followers indignantly deny the charge of treachery, saying they did all possible to assist New.

An analysis of the vote showed Beveridge unexpected strength among every class. The farmer vote, which he had been conceded, gave him an endorsement far greater than his closest followers had dared predict. Beveridge's stand on limitation of campaign expenses, and attacks on the New stand in the Newberry case, was credited with winning votes in the rural districts. The labor centers such as Lake-co, which had been conceded to New by Beveridge followers got on the bandwagon with a heavy vote.

BELGIAN BETRAYER OF HEROIC NURSE IS "BURIED ALIVE"

(By MILTON BRONNER)

MONS, Belgium. — (Special Cable.) — "Armand Jeannes is dead!" It was the commandant in charge of the gloomy brick-towered prison at Mons who told me this, when I inquired for the Belgian arch-traitor who sold his country to Germany for 25 pieces of silver.

I had learned positively that this renegade spy—believed by many to have been the betrayer of Edith Cavell, the heroic nurse who was executed in the war by a German firing squad—had not gone to the guillotine as reported, or committed suicide, or died a natural death.

"Monsieur Commandant," I pressed my inquiries, "has Jeannes said anything since his conviction and death sentence which would clear up the mystery surrounding Edith Cavell's betrayal?"

"Dead men tell no tales," said the commandant. "Armand Jeannes is dead."

TRAITOR IS ACTUALLY BURIED ALIVE

It is death—a living death—that has befallen Armand Jeannes. He is buried alive!

The sentenced to the guillotine, he probably will not feel the knife across his precious neck. Only a tidal wave of public sentiment can sweep him to the executioner.

But Jeannes is dead so far as the authorities are concerned. He is hidden away in Mons prison, and in prison he will probably remain the rest of his days, seen by no human being, and always in the shadow of the guillotine.

Belgium still has the death penalty in the penal code. But no one has been guillotined for nearly 60 years. The reason is that back in 1865 two men were guillotined here in Mons and when shortly afterward it was found that they were innocent Belgium was so shocked that since then the king has commuted all death sentences to life imprisonment.

Usually the law authorities sign a petition asking the king to commute death sentences. But in the arch-traitor's case they have refused. Meanwhile all Belgium organizations of ex-soldiers are demanding Jeannes' execution, and the newspapers are carrying on a campaign for his death.

NO VISITOR IS ALLOWED TO SEE HIM

It is futile to try to see Jeannes. The prison authorities have reached the point where they do not even admit his existence! Thus they save both the king and executioner from bearing the brunt of public sentiment.

This man of 33 originally sold his country for 25 francs a month. The Germans later increased his pay until he was getting 750 francs a month. Jeannes disappeared when the German war machine collapsed, but fate played him a trick. When the fleeing Germans destroyed their documents, one heap in a barn near the Belgian frontier in northern France was overlooked.

In this mass of papers were found 200 reports made by Jeannes, together with his German police card, and letters from him to his German chief, Kirschenheim, in which, he boasted of his exploits and asked for more money for his "faithful service."

Jeannes claimed he had caused the deaths of 126 Belgians, Frenchmen and British, including Miss Cavell.

His trial was a sensation. At first he was contemptuous and defiant, but the evidence against him was so strong that his bravado soon vanished, even tho no direct evidence was brought that he personally reported Miss Cavell to the German police.

NATION ENTERING MERGER PERIOD

Gigantic Consolidation Near at Hand, Forbes Says

PLANS ALREADY UNDER WAY

Big Oil Groups Hit by Spirit of the Times

(BY B. C. FORBES)

NEW YORK — (Special) — Progress means growth. Growth is the keynote of modern business enterprise.

Whether we like it or dislike it, it is becoming increasingly clear that we are entering a period of numerous and gigantic business mergers.

Clarence Dillon, head of an extraordinarily energetic and successful financial house in New York, a youngish man who is rapidly coming to be recognized as a Napoleon of finance, confided that he has already taken active steps looking towards the acquisition and combining of several steel companies. It looks, therefore, as if the steel industry is participating in the new merger era, even though it is not yet absolutely certain that any colossal steel combination will be carried thru. Incidentally, a minor merger was effected a few weeks ago by J. Leonard Replogle, the forceful head of the Republic Steel Company.

Perhaps the most important merger of all will be witnessed, in course of time, in the transportation world. The transportation act recommends the merging of our 200 and more railway companies into one-third that number. Merger deals of enormous magnitude cannot be worked out overnight. But it is certain that one by one small or weak roads will be taken over by larger and stronger systems. The sale of the Lake Erie and Western to the Van Sweringen interests is doubtless a preliminary step to much more important realignments of railway ownerships.

Let our major railway systems again get on a money-making and high credit basis and we shall unquestionably see a lot of merger action, particularly if money rates continue easy and the appetite of investors for new securities half as keen as it is today.

In harmony with the spirit of the times, is the plan of the five dominating oil groups in America to join forces in carrying on all prospecting and developing work throughout Mexico. Even the Standard Oil interests are participating in this movement—a change since the days when Rockefeller, Rogers, Flagler, Archbold and other grizzly oil warriors reigned supreme. There have already been one or two oil mergers of some moment, and Wall Street understands that others are under consideration.

Many leading automobile giants declare confidently that the automobile industry is approaching a period of innumerable combinations. It is predicted that five or ten years from now there will not be more but distinctly fewer automobile manufacturing companies in this country. General Motors is in reality a huge combination. Ford, you will recall, recently took over the Lincoln Motor Company. The dynamic head of the Nash Motor Company, C. W. Nash, quite recently became the controlling power in the Lafayette Motor Company, which acquired the Pierce-Arrow Company. Competition is becoming so intense that it will be a case of the survival of the fittest.

Do not take quite seriously denials that there has been any thought of considering the merging of Armour and Company, Wilson and Company and Cudahy and Company. Such a deal has been talked of a great deal during the last year. True, nothing definite has yet been arranged and it is possible that no combination will actually result. On the other hand it is entirely possible that this mammoth merger will be undertaken. Very great economies could be thereby effected. Those primarily interested would be disposed to go ahead were they to become convinced that no serious objections would be offered by either our governmental regulatory authorities or the general public. Quite a few independent packing companies have been figuring in mergers of more or less importance during the last two or three years.

Copper mergers on a colossal scale are well within the range of possibility in the not distant future. The acquisition of the largest brass manufacturing company in America by the largest copper producing company in the country is a sign of the times. A cabinet officer recently remarked to me, privately, that he believed it would be an excellent thing for the country were the whole copper industry gathered into a few large, responsible, strongly financed corporations. It so happens that in this industry there are a few mental giants possessing the ambition and able to command the capital necessary for evolving combinations of great magnitude.

The woolen goods industry recently witnessed an important merger. There is talk in Wall Street this week of an impending drygoods merger. The cotton goods industry not so long ago had a big merger. The sugar industry is at present indulging in merger talk. Not very long ago the International Shoe Company took over another prominent company, thus forming the largest shoe manufacturing concern in the world. The chemical industry recently experienced an extremely important merger. The dye industry has not been immune. The tobacco industry may figure conspicuously in merger news by and by.

Bank mergers have become almost every-day occurrences, not only here but in Britain, in Germany and other foreign countries—Canada had a big bank merger some little time ago. Shipping mergers are sure to come along.

Mergers and speculation in merger securities promise to be a feature of the better times we are all looking for this year and next year.

THUNDER STORMS ARE PROGRAMMED

Weather forecasts don't worry Ted a whole lot. Showers are inconsequential things in his young life.

Ted is possessed of an artistic temperament and has taken to landscape painting instead of landscape gardening. Unsettled and probably local thunder storms this afternoon or tonight. Friday generally fair. Not much change in temperature.

At this particular season of the year, showers are accepted as a matter of course and are looked upon as first aid to growing things. Gardening, fishing and other outdoor pastimes have the call. Boys are giving their time to kite flying for the most part of the way.

BITTER FIGHT IN COLLINS CASE

Suit to Break Will Contested Every Inch of the Way

MENTALITY IS ATTACKED

Case Expected to Continue Entire Week

That the Collins will case on trial by a jury before Judge Fred C. Becker in common pleas court will continue the remainder of the week, was indicated Thursday.

The battle for the wealth of Samuel Collins, monogamarian, who died in 1918, has been developed into a Marathon by the defense.

More than a dozen witnesses have already been placed on the stand, to testify to Collins' mental infirmity in the last year of his life. Nine other witnesses were to testify when court recessed at noon Thursday.

C. L. V. Stoner, farmer, whose land adjoins that of Collins, told of his acquaintance. Stoner bought a portion of the Collins land in 1918.

DEFENSE STRIKES BLOW Mrs. Guy Kendrick, Shawnee-tp. friend of the family and distant relative, proved a valuable witness for the defense Thursday. She told of Collins repeating over and over the same stories of pioneer days.

Samuel Collins was a close associate of her grandfather, she said, and they were fond of playing jokes on one another.

Following his return from St. Petersburg, Florida in 1918, Mrs. Kendrick told the jury that Collins passed a large part of his time sleeping.

During the World War, when talk of the army and battles was on every tongue, Collins seemed utterly oblivious to the existence of the mighty conflict, according to Mrs. Kendrick.

Mrs. E. Easton and Mrs. C. L. V. Stoner, were on the stand for the defense Thursday.

Testimony produced by Perry C. Collins and his counsel is calculated to show Samuel Collins' mental inability to transact business during the last months of his life.

Dorothy Collins, 418 S. Cole-st., great-granddaughter of the aged pioneer, has been sitting with her attorneys in the court room daily during progress of the trial. Her mother, Mrs. Coleen Collins Mitchell, is with her almost constantly.

MAY WIN $55,000 Altho she may win about $55,000 if victorious in the case, she rarely takes a hand, consulting with her counsel only occasionally. She has not appeared on the stand, but is to do so before the close of the case, it is stated.

Samuel Collins was sheriff of Allen-co during the trying days of 1861 to '65, and his picture hangs in the office of Sheriff Charles W. Baxter. Since the start of the trial the picture has been the object of attention from scores of persons.

The picture shows Collins wearing a long flowing beard, his scoldish wife which has been made a point in the trial.

MAY REJECT BIDS FOR STONE

Commissioners Consider Gravel For Township Road

PRICES ABOVE ESTIMATES

Offers Are Best, However, Since Close of War

Bids on approximately $50,000 worth of stone which will be used by trustees of seven townships in Allen-co. were received by the county commissioners Wednesday. Twenty-five Allen-co. quarry companies submitted prices.

No awards have been made by the commissioners. A portion of the bids may be rejected because the price for stone is more than the estimates. The average price asked is $1.25 per cubic yard.

MAY USE GRAVEL The commissioners may investigate the use of screened gravel as substitute for stone, should the stone interests refuse to cut their prices.

The townships for which stone is to be contracted are Amanda, Spencer, Shawnee, American, Bath and Jackson.

The lowest price submitted was by T. C. Long, who quoted $1.30 for material and hauling. Prices of hauling vary according to distance.

Prices were submitted on the basis of the road to be improved. The haulage in some instances is too high, commissioners say.

LOWEST SINCE WAR Despite the fact that commissioners consider prices high, they admit they are the lowest submitted since the war. Awards may be made within the next few days.

Prices were quoted by the following firms: H. E. Miller, Lima Stone Co., R. M. Stone, Churchill Brothers, J. J. Ward, Spencer Stone Co., Suer Stone Co., E. R. Shriver, J. E. Fetter, H. Brooks, L. E. Creps, L. C. Barter, George Cahman, Show & Leatherman, Krott & Harsho, M. V. Whitling, H. F. Crites, Jacob Watt, J. R. Joseph, J. M. Thomas, Frank Altshetter, Elmer Hiltz, T. C. Long.

200 NEWSBOYS GUESTS AT CARNIVAL SHOWS

Sale of extras, telling of the latest news of the day, was forgotten by 200 newsboys of the city while they frolicked at the carnival on N. Main-st., Wednesday evening.

News merchants were guests of the management of the carnival and were admitted to every concession on the grounds, being given a royal treat by those in charge.

One hundred and twenty-five Lima News carriers were among the newsboys who thronged the carnival shows.

REJECT PETITION

Spencerville Council Won't Repeal Show Ordinance

Altho a delegation of citizens was on hand with a petition asking that an ordinance prohibiting Sunday movies be rescinded, when Spencerville town council met Wednesday night, that body failed to act upon it.

All of the council were present, with one exception. Mayor C. C. Laman, the man who clamped the blue law lid on the village, presided.

The petition asked that council repeal the ordinance which started all the trouble. The matter became the subject of a heated argument, part of the council being for and the remainder opposed to lifting the lid.

No action was taken, the petition being tabled.

Failure of council to act meant that "blue law" Sunday will continue for at least two more weeks.

FLOOD CONTINUES TO SPREAD

Waters Now Covering Five Counties in Mississippi

NEW ORLEANS — (Associated Press) — Relief measures continued to grow more complex today as flood waters from the Mississippi river and its tributaries spread steadily over a large section of Louisiana and Mississippi, extending far from the crevasses and spillways. Eleven parishes in this state already have felt the effects of the flood, and five Mississippi counties in the Yazoo Basin, where 16,000 persons are reported in need of assistance, are being inundated. It is estimated by Vicksburg Red Cross officials that 40,000 will need aid in that section as a result of the flood before new food crops can be produced.

Rich farm lands in Rapides and Avoyelles parishes, sixty miles from the Mississippi river, are threatened according to reports received here, by the junction of water pouring thru the crevasses at Ferriday with backwater in the Red river basin.

The relief situation continued acute at Harrisonburg, La., and efforts were being made to verify a report received by Red Cross workers here that six thousand persons driven from their homes in St. Martin parish were suffering from lack of food. Relief parties also resumed their work today of bringing in marooned flood victims to the various refugee camps altho, according to their accounts, thousands of persons insist upon remaining with their inundated homes.

CONTRACT AWARDED FOR THIRD STATE-AID ROAD IN ALLEN-CO PROGRAM

Construction of Allen-co's third state-aid road unit was assured Thursday, with the announcement that contract for section K of the Dixie Highway north of Lima. The road section is not quite four miles long. It was let to E. L. Reeb & Co., Defiance.

Reeb is the type selected for the construction, and its choice indicates that the state highway department will specify the same material on other sections of the Dixie that to be built in Allen-co in 1923.

Reeb was low on brick and on oil macadam and asphalt macadam when the road was sold April 20. An award of six miles of road work in Crawford-co was made to the Scott Construction Co., Lima, at the same time. The bid of the Lima concern was $232,308, total for four contracts covering the six miles.

Reeb's bid for brick on the Dixie Highway was $98,308.76, more than $20,000 under the estimated cost.

DELPHOS—Getting a tip that a still was in operation on the John Fuerst farm, two miles southeast of this city, Mayor J. W. Williams, Chief of Police Oelberg and Patrolman Wagoner visited the place, calling unexpectedly.

They found, they assert, a still in operation in a small building on the farm, with ten gallons of mash. Fuerst was working in a field at the time and the still was unattended. He was arrested, plead guilty and was fined $300.

Fuerst admitted that he had been manufacturing liquor, for his own use and that he did not sell any of the stuff.

WITHDRAWAL OF YANKS DELAYED

Period of U. S. Occupation in Germany Extended

(BY A. L. BRADFORD)

WASHINGTON — (United Press) Complete withdrawal of American troops from Germany will be delayed.

In response to urgent allied and German representations, Secretary of State Hughes virtually has decided that a part of the American army of occupation should be continued on the Rhine for the present.

Previous plans were to have the last American soldier out of Germany before July 1.

Frantic appeals have been made to this government that the American flag be kept flying on the Rhine for awhile. These are the main reasons actuating the allied and German representations.

1—The allies, Great Britain, France, Belgium, being the only nations with the United States continuing the occupation of Germany—are anxious that a unified entente front be maintained before Germany, with the prestige that would be afforded by the American flag.

2—Germany is faced with an almost certain threat of French occupation of the Ruhr valley if she fails to continue her reparations payments the end of this month, as is now expected.

THE INDIANA PRIMARY

RESULTS of the Indiana primary held Tuesday in which Senator Harry S. New, Harding henchman, was slaughtered by voters has caused a near-panic in Washington. Republican senators are scratching their heads and are clearly worried.

This primary was expected to show the popularity of the Harding administration. New, one of the President's right hand men, sought renomination but from the very beginning of the count it was evident that former Senator Albert J. Beveridge would be the victor.

The primary is a hard blow to the administration. It shows clearly which way the wind is blowing. This along with several other good barometers spells rough times ahead of the Grand Old Party. The administration may gather some valuable data from the Indiana race for calculating future results.

TRAFFIC PROBLEM

MANAGER C. A. BINGHAM and Chief of Police T. A. Lanker are confronted by a problem that is taxing their ingenuity to meet successfully and not impair the efficiency of the police department.

More and more demands are being made for the service of traffic policemen at street corners, as the number of motor propelled vehicles increases. With only 32 men available, it is impossible to place an officer at every intersection where there is need of traffic regulation. Too many men would be taken off duty in other and more important activities.

The city is confronted by inability to employ more officers, due to lack of funds, it is stated. Consequently, as demands increase for the service of the force of officers with growth of the city and addition of motor vehicles, officials are forced to turn attention to mechanical traffic regulating devices.

Under a plan now being considered, one officer would be able to direct traffic at several intersections, by the installation of signal stands equipped with gongs and lights, operated from a central tower.

SEALS

THE big fur-seal herd, numbering in the millions, now is migrating from the South Pacific to the Pribilof Islands, near Alaska. They make the trip each spring.

How do they know when to start and where to go?

Man's belief that seals have no brains is based on his ability to conquer, kill and turn them into expensive fur coats. If an animal appeared that man could not conquer, it would speedily be credited with intelligence.

The intellect appears to be a matter of vanity, measured by the ability to destroy.

PUBLIC SERVANTS

CHEER UP, we aren't the only people supporting a vast army of government employees.

Germany, with only half as big a population as America, reports that 1,557,736 are on her national payroll.

Of these, $67,833 hold position for life. That couldn't happen in our country, where the ax falls on good and bad alike when national elections knock one political party out of power and enthrone another.

It might not be a bad system in principle, however, provided the life-tenurers were of proper caliber and easily removable by the people if they fell down on their jobs.

Met a broker still in business. An unusual coincidence. To lunch at the Billmore with a former Bowling Green off man, who always inquires after Mack Colt and Walter Gray. I vouched for Walter, but a little leary about Mack. In the afternoon visited the shoppes. Bot mother a pair of hose and Dee a handkerchief. And looked with 10,000 other rubber necks to see Raymond Hitchcock, now seemingly among the G. A. U. or Out of Works, riding a Masonic goat down the steps of the Public Library. The goat's name was Cecil (sessel) and he wore an Entered Apprentice's apron, and a blue satin robe, with long tassels. Raymond in checkered trousers, long frock coat and a gray topper. Seven attempts were failures. Then the comedian blessed the goat, jumped aboard and rode peacefully down the steps. The stunt advertised a Masonic benefit.

MAIL carriers early this month will take a census of pigs to find out how many there are in America. The two-legged kind will not be included.

The postman will find about 57,000,000 head of swine on the farms.

Along with these are some 36,000,000 sheep, 19,000,000 horses, 5,400,000 mules, 24,000,000 milk cows and 41,000,000 other cattle.

PRICES IN JAPAN

WHOLESALE prices continue slumping in Japan, where they now are about twice as high as before the war.

This is important to us, because the world-wide epidemic of price crashing started in Japan. Watch that part of the world, same as you would watch the horizon to know when the tail end of the tornado is in sight.

It takes two months for price movements to travel to us from the Orient.

HEALTH TALKS

Common Sense Ways to Keep Well

THE MEDICINE CABINET

Preventing sickness is a whole lot cheaper in every way than remedying it.

It is becoming quite the proper and common thing in this country to visit a physician from time to time for an examination even when in the best of physical condition.

Parents, too, are learning how much less expensive it is to send or take their children periodically to the doctor, just to be looked over. This is a very wise precaution, for often something slightly wrong may easily be corrected which, if allowed to run on, might be beyond human power to cure.

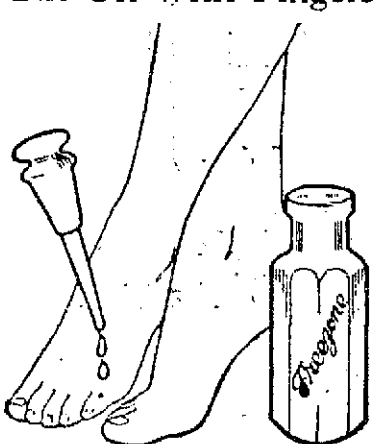

Exact rules prescribing just when to call a doctor in illness or injury cannot be made to cover all cases, but some help may perhaps be given.

If an illness comes on suddenly with high fever, considerable prostration, and headache, a doctor is needed. He is also needed in case of severe headache or pain in the abdomen, especially if these are present after an injury. All injuries of the head and abdomen have very serious possibilities. Croup is so terrifying that the doctor is usually summoned at once by the frightened mother. Severe sore throat may be diphtheria, and you need the doctor at once. An eruption with fever, often means a contagious disease.

Some diseases which come on slowly should not be neglected. Mouth breathing means adenoids. Loss of considerable weight means something wrong. Persistent coughing is a danger signal. Any deformity should be shown to a doctor. Deafness may often be improved or cured if given early attention. Running from the ear is a bad business and should be attended to.

Doctor Discovers New Rupture Remedy

Akron, Ohio, May 11.—A prominent Ohio physician has discovered a wonderful new method, which is completely revolutionary in the treatment of rupture. This remedy is totally different from any other—no operation—no cutting, and nothing to "rub on." Anyone can use it without pain or danger and without losing an hour from work. Relief is felt almost immediately and recovery is usually so rapid as to seem miraculous. Anyone who is ruptured may obtain full information regarding this remarkable discovery, by writing E. H. Scott, Hernia Specialist, 284 C. Scott Bldg., Akron, Ohio, who will send interesting booklet in plain sealed wrapper.—Adv.

Now Margot Asquith says we're crude
And Bernard Shaw avows we're awful,
And Mrs. Glyn avers we're rude
And that our ways are most unlawful;
They have a right to such a view
Altho perhaps we may not love it,
Yet I would briefly ask of you
What of it?

It's natural they should discuss
Their thoughts about this broad domain,
But why should we make such a fuss
About each foreigner's opinion?
About our daily tasks we move
In spite of guests who knock and batter,
If they approve or disapprove,
It doesn't matter!

A hundred million folks or more
Compose this fairly well-known nation,
And if the guests who reach our shore
Decide upon due contemplation,
To speak with balm or bitter gall
As on their homeward way they hurry,
It makes no difference at all,
So—we should worry

WINS PRIZE IN BEAUTY CONTEST
ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., — Miss Polly Barton was picked by a committee of experts as the prettiest bathing girl in the beauty contests at the Festival of States celebration here this month.

Several hundred young women, all more than ordinary looking, entered the competition. They represent all sections of the country, north, south, east and west.

Miss Barton is from New York City. Besides her looks, she is a remarkably clever and excellent swimmer. For her natural exercises, she affects a plain black, two-piece Annette Kellerman bathing suit.

The committee which decided the contest consisted of Will Payne, the author; Robert W. Maxwell, a Philadelphia newspaperman, and Mrs. Katherine Tibbette, of Lake George, N. Y.

No Disappointments

Millions of housewives use Calumet Baking Powder because of its dependability—because when they place their baking in the oven, they know it will "turn out" all right. They are confident of results because they know that no matter what they bake—pies, cakes, biscuits, muffins—the results will be the same—light, perfectly raised, wholesome foods.

CALUMET BAKING POWDER

never disappoints. Don't prepare bakings with expensive ingredients and then have them spoiled because of an inferior leavener.

Have the same assurance that the majority of other housewives have.

A pound can of Calumet contains full 16 ounces. Some baking powders come in 12 ounce instead of 16 ounce cans. Be sure you get a pound when you want it.

LEARN A WORD A DAY

TODAY'S word is SIGNATORY.

It is pronounced—signa-to-ri, with the accent on the last syllable.

It means a signer; apocryphally, as much used in connection with recent and pending European diplomatic events, "a government bound with others to the terms of a joint agreement."

It comes from—Latin "signare," to mark.

It's used like this—"The allied signatories object to the German interpretation of the Versailles treaty."

NEW SILK LAMP SHADES

Indeed you must have a table lamp! Books are so much more inviting when there's a beautiful shaded lamp to furnish the light.

And a pretty lamp does so dress up a room. Its shade can be just the very touch of color needed to give character to its surroundings.

But lamp shades are expensive—so they are! But then why not make your own as everybody else is doing? Not the lacy sort that we hushed ourselves with last year, rather a plain combination of silk and wool, which, on a plain base, is quite distinctive.

Colorful hand-dyed silks make the best medium for most of the new shades. The variegated effect of such silks is really something to be desired in lighting appliances; however, where this is not available, pongee in soft tones can be used with very good result.

The color should depend upon the color scheme of your room; however, avoid tones of green. Green is a temporarily fatal effect upon the beauty of anyone near the light!

Frames for lamp shades can be purchased for from 25 cents to a dollar, depending upon the elaborateness of the design.

A straight piece of material two inches wider than the frame and slightly longer than its circumference at its widest point, should be cut. After French seaming it, begin fastening it to the frame at the bottom. A backstitch is good for this because the sewing must be close. The top should next be fastened in the same way. A point of importance is getting an even distribution of fabric.

To finish the top and bottom take straight strips of fabric, one for each place, just long enough to go around and turn in nicely. They should each be wide enough to leave a margin on the sides all the way around of about one-inch and are applied as binding.

Colored wool is used for the finishing touch. It may harmonize or contrast and is applied so that it covers the edges of the binding. An effective way to apply the wool is in five or seven rows of very even backstitching. When this method is used the stitches should be so placed that they form slanting lines in looking across them.

Another and easier method is to take five strands of wool and hold them in the shade with an over and over stitch from the wrong side. Care should be taken that these stitches are the same distance apart.

In making a closed top shade the method is the same except that there need be no top binding. A pretty finish for such a shade is a circular band ornament which you can make by simply winding a string of wooden beads around the top and fastening them from the wrong side.

Complimenting Miss Blanche Daley, bride-elect of J. J. Touney, Miss Nell O'Connor, of N. Metcalf-st., entertained the members of the Colleen club and a group of guests at her home Wednesday evening with a miscellaneous shower. Cards were enjoyed thruout the evening and at a late hour a delicious repast was served. The appointments were carried out in the club colors of green and white.

Those present included Misses Blanche Daley, Cecilia Barrett, Mary Callahan, Gertrude Barrett, Breta Carney, Katherine McGraw, Frances Carney, Margaret McGraw, Margaret Shea, Josephine Weitz, Margaret Daley, Mrs. Ambrose Bishop, Mrs. Alfred Mulcahy, Mrs. M. J. Lynch and the hostess.

Mrs. Roy Walters, of Richley-ave., was hostess to the members of the Wayne Bridge club at her home, Wednesday afternoon. In the playing Miss F. W. Steinhagen and Mrs. Will Arbuthnot held high scores among the members and Mrs. C. E. Umbaugh among the guests.

TWO MEDICAL DISCOVERIES

Two important advances have just been made by doctors studying the human body, and trying to find new ways to fight disease, keep us healthy and make our lives longer.

In Moscow, Russia, Dr. N. Krichak, a woman, says she has discovered the germ that causes typhus. For two years she has been working in her laboratory over a microscope to find this germ.

Why is this important? Because now that the germ has been found, it will not be hard to find a vaccine or serum that will kill the germ and prevent typhus.

We rarely hear of typhus in this country. But on the eastern front, where the Germans fought the Russians in the World War, typhus was said to have killed more soldiers than did bullets. And since the war thousands of Russians and others in Eastern Europe have been killed by this disease.

Typhus comes from a Greek word "typhos" which means stupor. It is a kind of fever. The victim breaks out in a rash of miliary color. Later the one afflicted suffers pain in the head, delirium, and finally drops into a stupor.

Many doctors say typhus is spread by lice. If you have heard the stories about "cooties" brought back from Europe by American soldiers, you will understand why typhus was one of the most dreaded diseases of the war.

The other important medical discovery is announced by London physicians—they say they have discovered the germ that causes diabetes.

Unlike typhus, diabetes is a well-known disease in America and you probably know of many who have suffered from it.

The germ that causes diabetes, the London physicians say, is a bacillus—that means it is shaped like a rod or staff.

It may be an indication of the kind of awful fighting that will take place in wars of the future.

Right now the two rival Chinese armies are fighting outside Peking. One is commanded by General Wu Peifu, the other by General Chang Tso-lin.

General Chang Tso-lin has quartered his soldiers in the village of Changshingien and General Wu Peifu is trying to drive them out.

Can you find Changshingien on your map? It is 12 miles southwest of Peking, the Chinese capital.

Another Peace Note
David Lloyd George, Great Britain's famous prime minister, has new ambitious plans he hopes to carry out. He plans to settle all the boundary disputes that have been vexing Europe and sowing the seed for more wars.

Almost every boundary line in Eastern and Central Europe is in dispute as a result of the World War. This means that neighboring nations cannot decide how much land each owns and that people living near to borders do not know to what nation they belong.

Boundaries of Russia and neighboring Baltic countries never have been settled. Italy and Yugoslavia do not know where one country ends and the other begins. Other countries with disputed borders are Czechoslovakia, Rumania, Poland, Austria and Hungary.

Lloyd George's ambition is to settle all these problems. Then he will ask the nations of Europe to sign a non-aggression treaty—each country promising not to start a war with any other nation in the next ten years.

In the past we have had boundary disputes in our own country. One was between the United States and Canada. Another was between two of our own states—Michigan and Indiana. And in South America small republics continually are quarreling over their boundaries.

BREAD CRUMBS

Way to Make Dishes With Them

Save every crumb and scrap of bread. Dried bread is one of the most important ingredients in more than one left-over.

Remember, too, that toast is a different kind of dried bread if it is buttered and do not store it with plain bread.

It is a great convenience to have bread crumbs on hand for crumbing croquettes and making scalloped dishes and puddings. The bread must be perfectly dry and crisp.

Put thru the fine knife of the food chopper and store in glass jars.

MOTHER'S BREAD PUDDING
Two and one-half cups stale coarse bread crumbs, milk, ¼ cup sugar, 1 teaspoon cinnamon, 1 egg, ½ teaspoon salt, 2 tablespoons butter.

SAUCE—One-half cup butter, 1 cup brown sugar, 1 teaspoon vanilla, few gratings nutmeg.

Put at least one cup of milk in a smooth pan and bring to boiling point. Pour over bread and let stand in a warm place until milk is absorbed. Add sugar, butter, cinnamon and egg and beat well. Turn into a buttered pudding dish and bake in a moderate oven until firm to the touch. Serve warm with the sauce.

Beat butter to a cream. Slowly beat in sugar and add vanilla and nutmeg. Do not use the crusts of bread in this pudding.

COMPANY BREAD PUDDING
Two cups milk, 1½ cups bread crumbs, 1½ tablespoons butter, 4 tablespoons sugar, 1 lemon, 2 eggs, raspberry or strawberry jam.

Heat milk and pour over bread crumbs. Add sugar, butter and grated rind of lemon. Let cool and add the yolks of the eggs well beaten. Mix thoroughly and pour into a buttered pudding dish. Bake in a moderate oven for 20 minutes or until set.

TEACHERS:

A study of boundary disputes would be highly interesting and timely now in your current events or history class in view of Lloyd George's plan to settle European boundary troubles.

Why not have your pupils go into the matter thoroughly, using the files of the Lima News and public library books as sources?

Here are some suggested reports to assign to your pupils:

ONE—Europe's boundary disputes Lloyd George will try to settle.

TWO—The South American Tanna-Arica boundary dispute in which the United States is mediator.

THREE—Boundary disputes in American history.

FOUR—The boundary dispute between Michigan and Indiana and how it was settled.

May be an indication of the kind of awful fighting that will take place in wars of the future.

THE WHITE DESERT

BY COURTNEY RILEY COOPER

"I must go on. I gave my promise."
She nodded.
"It means Tollifer now. The desert is more dangerous."
Suddenly the storm lifted for a moment. Far below, miles in reality, straight jets of steam rose high above black, curling smoke; faintly, distantly, whistles sounded. The snowplows!
He gripped her arm with the sight of it, nor did she resist. Thrilled, enthralled, they watched it; the swirling snow, the shooting steam, the white spray which indicated the grinding, churning progress of the plows, propelled by the heavy engines behind. From the swollen lips of Houston:
"They've started the fight! I'm going to work with them."
"But—"
He knew what she meant and shook his head.
"No—she does not need me. My presence would mean nothing to her. I can't tell you why. My place—down there."
For an instant Medaine Robinette looked at him with frankly questioning eyes, eyes which told that a question was arising as to his guilt in at least one of the things which circumstances had arrayed against him. But suddenly she was speaking, as tho to divert her thoughts.

"SOMEBODY TAKE HER—GET HER INTO THE BUNK CARS. SHE'S GIVEN OUT."

PATTERN FOR TODAY

"We'll have about three hours. It's our chance. We'd better cut this cord—the one in the lead may could hear the surge of the terrific impact, as the rotary smashed against the tight-jammed contents of the shed, snarled and tore at its enemy, then, beaten at last by the crushed ice of the rails, came striding back so that the crews might break the ice from the rails and give traction for another assault. Houston started forward, only to stop. A figure in the dim light of the cook car had caught his eye. Medaine Robinette.
If the woman back there in the west country only would tell! If she would only keep the promise which she had given him in her half-delirium!
Ten minutes later Barry stood beside a great Mallot engine, a sleek, grayhound of the mountains, taking instructions from the superintendent.
"Know anything about fire?" an engine?
"I know enough to shovel coal—and I've got a strong pair of shoulders."
"When you get in them gas pockets, stick your nose in the hollow of your elbow. There ain't no fresh air in that there shed; the minute these engines get inside and start throwin' on the juice, it fills up with smoke. That's what gets you."
Barry climbed to his place on the engine. A whistle sounded, to be echoed and re-echoed by the answering blasts of the snowplow train—four engines and the big auger itself—ready now for a fresh sally into the shed. Throttles open, fire boxes throwing their red, spluttering glare against the black sky as firemen leaped to their task, the great mass of machinery moved forward.
Faster—faster—then the impact, like crashing into a stone wall. They were within the snowshed now, the auger boring and tearing and snarling like some savage, vengeful thing against the solid mass which faced it. Inch by inch for eight feet it progressed; then progress ceased, while the plow ahead shrilled the triple signal to back up. The engineer opened the cab window and gratefully sucked in the fresh, clean air.
"Eight feet—that's all," he mused. "Eight feet at a time."
Back and forth—back and forth—fresh air and foul air—gleaming lights, then dense blackness—so the hours passed. Sally after sally the snowplow made. Men fell groveling, only to be dragged into the open air and resuscitated, then sent down once more into the cruelty of the fight. The hours dragged by like stricken things. Then—dawn—the plow churned with lesser impact. It surged forward. Gray light broke thru at the end of the tunnel. The grip of at least one snowshed was broken; but there remained twenty more—and the Death Trail—beyond!
The day crew carried the fight on upward, thru three of the smaller snowsheds, at last to halt at the long, curved affair which shielded the jutting edge of Mount Talcuhen. The second and third nights were a repetition of the first.
Tonight was the last night, the last either in the struggle or in the lives of those who had fought their way upward to the final barricade which yet separated them from the top of the world—the Death Trail.

Smooth and sleek it showed before Houston in the early moonlight, an icy Niagara, the snow piled high above the railroad tracks. Already the plows were assembled. This was to be the fight of fights, there in the moonlight. A quick shoot and a lucky one. Otherwise—the men who went forward to their engines would not speak of it. But there was one who did.
She was standing beside the cook car as Houston passed.
"You'll be with them?"
"On the Death Trail? I expect to."
"They talk of it as something terrible. Why?"
Houston pointed to the forbidding wall of snow. His thick, broken lips mumbled in the longest speech he had known in days.
"It's all granite up there. The cut of the roadbed forms a base for the remainder of the snow. When we cut out the foundation—they're afraid that the vibration will loosen the rest and start an avalanche. It all depends whether it comes before—or after we've passed thru."
She straightened and looked at him with clear, frank eyes. "Mr. Houston," came quietly, "I've been thinking about something all day. I have felt that I haven't been quite fair—that a man who has acted as you have acted since—since I met you this last time—that he deserves more of a chance than I have given him. That—"
"I'm asking nothing of you, Miss Robinette."
"I know. I am asking something of you. I want to tell you that I have been hoping that you can some day furnish me the proof—that you spoke of once. I—that's what I wanted to tell you," she ended quickly and extended her hand. "Goodbye. I'll be praying for all of you up there."
Houston answered only with a pressure of his hand. He looked at her with eyes that spoke what his tongue could not say, then he went on—a shambling, dead-tired man, even on awaking from sleep, but a man whose heart was beating with a new fervor. She would be praying for all of them up there at the Trail. And all of them included him.
At the cab of the engine, he listened to the final instructions of the cursing, anxious superintendent, then went to his black work of the shovel. Higher and higher mounted the steam on the gauge; theirs was the first plow, theirs the greatest task. One by one the final orders came—crisp, shouted, cursing commands, answered in kind. Then the last cry:
"If there's a damn man of you who's a coward, step out! Hear that? If you're afraid—come on—there's no stopping once you start!"
Engine after engine answered, in jeering, sarcastic tones, the belligerent cries of men hiding what pounded in their hearts, driving down by sheer will-power the primitive desires of self-preservation. Again the call was repeated. Again it was answered by men who snarled, men who cursed that they might not pray. And with it:
"A-w-w-w—right! Let 'er go!"

ADVENTURE OF THE TWINS VALLEY OF VOICES

By OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

But another voice called out, "Go back! Oh, go back!"
The next valley that the Twins came to on their way to the Kingdom of the Korsknotts was called the Valley of Voices.
Everything looked all right indeed it was a lovely place, but the dove told them that Hailoo Hailoo lived there, and that as he was another cousin of Twelve Toes, the Sorcerer, it was more than likely he would cause them trouble.
"I'll fly ahead," said the dove, "and sit on the top branch of the tallest tree in the other side of the valley. Watch where I go and follow—no matter what happens."
But no sooner had the dove disappeared than a voice right beside them shouted fiercely, "Sit down." Nancy and Nick were so surprised that they did as they were told. Down they popped on a fallen log and looked around wonderingly to see who had spoken. But not a soul appeared. Old Hailoo Hailoo lived in a vine-covered hut in the middle of the valley, but as he was miles off, the Twins couldn't see him, of course. He could throw his voice as far as he wished, and in any direction he wished, and imitate anything he wished, which was likely to mix you up. Well, the Twins sat and sat and as they didn't see anything and nothing more happened, they got up. "We'll have to hurry," said Nancy. "We must have made a mistake. Whoever was talking didn't mean us."

But suddenly a little weak voice near the bushes beside the path called out, "Help! Help!"
"Something's in trouble," said Nick. "We'll have to find out."
So they looked but nothing could they see.
"It must be a joke," said Nancy. "Come on. We've wasted enough time. We must follow the dove and get out of this place."
But another voice called out, "Go back! Oh, go back! If you value your lives, go back!"
Back they started, running hard. Suddenly Nick stopped. "Old Hailoo Hailoo is fooling us," he said. "We'd better stuff our ears and follow the dove. There he is in that tree."
Soon they were out of the Valley of Voices.

Chooses Hollywood's Movie "Fast Set" as a Background for His Newest Mystery Novel

HERE'S WHAT VANCE HIMSELF SAYS ABOUT HIS LATEST ROMANCE

"Linda Lee, Inc."

While the first purpose of the book is to entertain, I have endeavored to record certain aspects of life in the Hollywood film colony in a phase which will come to be recognized as a parallel in motion picture history to that feverish era of "The Days of '49."

Within limitations of its single volume "Linda Lee, Inc." paints a true picture colored only by the author's vision. It pretends neither to expose nor to palliate. It is merely a plain presentation of conditions with which I became conversant in the course of nine years of dabbling in picture making.

Curiously enough, "Linda Lee, Inc." was written in every detail before the occurrence of that tragedy in real life which focused the attention of the United States on Hollywood—and was inspired by the author's memory of a conversation with a famous star and her husband, in which we agreed that, providing means were not found to stem the excesses of a certain element more conspicuous than representative of Hollywood, some such tragedy was inevitably to be expected.

HAMILTON TALKS ABOUT OLD DAYS IN MOVIES

(BY ESTHER WAGNER)
An interview with Lloyd Hamilton, the comedian, is like talking to a representative of a past generation, one who lived in the stone age of the films. Hamilton has made more than 300 film comedies. The earliest one he can recall was called "Ham, the Piano Mover." It had a notable cast. In the light of present salaries the members of this cast receive notable stipends. They were: Marshall Neilan, director and leading man, $100 a week; Ruth Roland, leading woman, $30; Seena Owen, character, $18; "Bud" Duncan, $20; "Ham" Hamilton, $40; Victor Fleming, assistant cameraman, $12.
In those days a comedy was made in two days. Studio shelves often held 12 comedies, a three-month supply.

A script was written for one of the railroad melodramas that used to feature Helen Holmes. It was delivered by mistake to Hamilton and he made a comedy of it.
In the old days a list of occupations hung in the studio office—baker, butcher, bricklayer, carpenter, chauffeur, plumber, etc. When one comedy was finished the next occupation on the list was taken as the subject.
Hamilton now takes two months to make one comic, whereas he used to make one in two days. Unlike other comedians Hamilton uses no script in his comedies. Only one situation is planned before filming starts. The other "gags" are invented as the production proceeds.

Corinne Griffith, star of a Vitaphone picture being made at the Morrison Hotel, S. C. and New York.

Barbara Castleman who plays a leading role in Harry Millard's screen version of "Dr. Rameau."

The Legion's Spring Carnival

LAST night was newboys night at the Spring Festival. The carriers turned out two hundred strong to be the guests of the American Legion and take in the Dodson & Cherry shows, rides and exhibits. They marched from the public square led by Prof. Scammiac as Royal Italian Band. Before proceeding to Murphy Park where the Legion boys entertained the "new boys" the band gave a concert accompanied by Louise Gody. The boys simply ran riot and kept those in charge on the qui vive every minute lining them up.

The midway was crowded throughout the evening although it had rained much. In the Athletic Stadium two wrestling matches took place. The first, between Walter Roop, the one-legged wrestler, and George Hill. Roop won. The decision by staying the time limit of seven minutes. In the second Hill threw Pelletier of Delphos in two minutes. Tonight "Kid" Murphy is matched to meet Johnnie Daniels and is very anxious for a go with the Lima boy. Jack Weaver of Decatur, Ill., has challenged Eddie Murray who boxed Sallor Grant a few nights ago. Two other bouts are anticipated to take place. George, the monkey man made a big hit with the newboys and kept them laughing with his witty saying and amused them with his trap drumming. It was a grinding day at "Over the Rapids" and a stream of newboys kept coming and going thru this merry making fun show in a circle.

At the trained animal circus the boys were given a full hour's show by the management, and sent away well pleased with their reception. They fairly stormed the Carnival Sideshow until they looked into the pit of rattlesnakes which put them on the cautious list quickly. Doc White presented Desha, the girl from India, Volterra, the radio girl and Norma, the floating lady for the carrier boys approbation.

Faurot to Open on Sunday

DOORS of the Faurot Opera House will swing open Sunday afternoon for the first Keith Vaudeville performance ever staged in Lima.

Three big time acts, combined with a rip-roaring high class farce, "Boy Crazy," starring Doris May, have been booked to inaugurate the coming of Keith acts to this city, fulfilling a desire which theatergoers have admitted for the past several years.

A corps of workmen began improving the popular playhouse last Monday, and Faurot fans will be pleased to view the new decorations. The mechanical apparatus has been changed, which the new manager, W. D. Clark, believes will result in a big improvement in a more clear vision of pictures.

W. D. Clark, an experienced showman who came to Lima from Marion, where he operated the Grand Opera House, has been kept on the jump booking the best Keith acts obtainable and securing only the highest class pictures to show with the vaudeville program.
Popular prices will prevail at all shows. Night prices are 50 cents for the lower floor; 40 cents for the first balcony, and 25 cents for the second balcony. Matinee prices for downstairs seats will be 35 cents, and a quarter will be charged for all seats in either balcony. Children under 13 will be admitted at anytime for 15 cents to any part of the house.
The first vaudeville act will be Tile and Tide, a comedy novelty, "In the Moonshine Parlor," Nevins and Guhl, the "gloom chasers," in a black-faced act.
The well known trio of Brown, Gardner and Trahane, have been obtained by Manager Clark after considerable negotiations. They will arrive late Saturday night from Pittsburgh, to present their passing revue of jazzy songs and novelty dances.
All the three acts come highly recommended and have been featured in Keith houses recently.
"Boy Crazy," the feature, which will follow the vaudeville, is a fleet-footed farce with uproariously funny situations in which Doris May appears at her best.

Acting with her is Harry Myers, the star in "A Connecticut Yankee," and "Tum to the Right."

DEMPSEY-WILLARD BOUT BEING STEAMED UP CHAMPION GLAD TO MEET EX-KING

(By HENRY L. FARRELL) NEW YORK. — Mayflowers and rumors of another Dempsey-Willard fight are sure signs of the approach of summer. Tex Rickard smiles an admission that he might match the champion and the oil king for a night show this summer. The only thing new in this intimation is that he is going to wire his Jersey City arena and conduct boxing at night instead of confining the big pile to holiday usage.

As long as Willard is able to walk and lift his arms, he will be considered as worthy of another chance against Dempsey and in a day when promoters are grabbing at any one to get work for the champion the long talked of bout might be staged.

HAD LOST HOPE Willard in a recent letter to a New York friend is said to have given up hopes of ever getting in the ring with the champion again, saying that Dempsey ran out on him when Rickard had it almost fixed up a year ago.

The big Kansan is also quoted as saying that he didn't believe he or any other heavyweight could beat Dempsey, but he wanted another bout to muss up the champion to get even for the muzzing he got in Toledo.

AGREES TO TERMS Willard, according to the report, has agreed to terms and Dempsey is being asked by cable about it.

In wise circles, it is being accepted for a sure thing now that Dempsey will meet Willis in a championship contest in London and that he will take on Willard after he gets over the big colored fighter.

PARIS — Jack Dempsey, heavy-weight champion, referring to announcements in the United States that arrangements for a bout between him and Jess Willard were progressing favorably said today he would be glad to meet Willard again. He was also ready to meet the winner of the Carpenter-Lewis bout in London, he declared.

Dempsey said he intended to sail for New York on the Aquitania May 13.

"Sure, I'll be glad to meet Willard again," said Dempsey to the correspondent. "He was once champion and ought to be given every chance to regain the title. Whenever the time, place and conditions are decided, I'll be ready to sign up."

"Willard is a good clean fighter and I would enjoy another match with him. I am in fine shape and haven't a doubt that I can easily repeat my victory over Jess."

RAY WATSON, former Kansas Aggie star distance runner, looks up as a real rival for Joie Ray. The two have met several times and Ray has always won by a very slight margin. QUESTIONNAIRE

By BILLY EVANS

Do you regard Melvin Groh as the best third baseman in the major leagues? Has Groh always ranked as a .300 hitter in the majors? In the world series of 1919 how did Groh compare with Buck Weaver? Please give a brief history of Groh's career.—B. E.

GROH is generally regarded as the outstanding figure of the present crop of major league third sackers.

During his major league career Groh's batting average has varied from .269, his low mark, to .331, his best average, made in 1921. Groh has batted better than .300 in four years of his career.

Weaver outplayed Groh in the 1919 series by a very comfortable margin.

Groh's first professional experience was with Oshkosh of the Wisconsin-Illinois league in 1908.

In 1910 he was secured by the Cleveland club of the American League but was turned back to Oshkosh.

He later joined the Decatur club of the Three League New York Nationals purchased him from that club in 1911. He was sent to Buffalo by the Giants for a part of the 1912 season and later recalled.

McGraw in 1914 traded him to Cincinnati to secure Pitcher Arthur Fromme.

Last year McGraw got him back by giving Cincinnati George Burns, Gonzales and a big wad of money.

Groh was born September 18, 1890, at Rochester, N. Y.

CLUB TO HOLD SHOOT MAY 12

Decision to hold a shoot May 12 was arrived at when members of the Lima Gun Club met Wednesday soon at the Elks Home. Preparations for the first event are designed on a scale that will make it one of the best ever staged here. The grounds are located at the end of E. Elm-st.

J. R. Jones was elected secretary to succeed J. W. Reed. After the shoot a committee composed of Ward Miller, J. W. Reed and A. M. Herrett will report their selections for the other two officers—president and vice-president.

Activities are being sponsored by the Elks lodge and according to Jones, Thursday, the season of 1922 will be a banner year for the club, which has in former years been one of the most enthusiastic organizations of sportsmen in Ohio.

BOWSHER OFF K-C CARD

Illness of his father prevents Don Bowshe, Lima middleweight, carrying out his contract to fight Sam Danis, of Cleveland, in the main go of the Knights of Columbus convention card, Monday night. Bowshe came to the decision Wednesday afternoon when informed by physicians of the critical condition of his only parent, who is at the point of death in a local hospital.

Matchmaker Charley Maxwell, after a conference with the convention fight committee, started negotiations to get Eddie Mullane, of Akron. He has been secured.

Fandom in general regrets Don's misfortune. He took great pains in preparing for the upstate slugger, taking a while with trainers in Chicago for two weeks and not leaving a single thing unturned for what would have been to him the most important battle of his career.

The remainder of the show will come off as per schedule with Bantamweight Don Paxier making with Frankie Susnell of Pittsburgh in ten rounds and Owen Ferris and Young Keuple (flyweights) exchanging punches in the opener.

From all indications a packed house will greet the pugilists. The crowd which is making a determined rush on the tickets is not only composed of members of the lodge, but fandom in general.

Shaffer Leads In Stickwork

Bustam Shaffer is leading the Lima Independents in batting, his average for the three games so far played being .520. He hit the ball seven times of 13 trips to the plate. McMullen is a good second with six clouts out of 13 trials. The complete batting record of all players who participated in the three games:

Player	AB	H	Pct.
Shaffer	13	7	.539
McMullen	13	6	.462
Wise	14	7	.500
Belmar	5	2	.400
Reynolds	10	5	.500
Hinchman	11	7	.636
Brenahan	7	0	.000
Hodges	7	0	.000
Erasmahan	7	0	.000

for run-getting honors, each having crossed the platter three times. Wise scored twice and Reynolds and Shaffer each once.

EPSTEIN LAID OFF

ST. LOUIS — Solly Epstein, Dayton, Ohio, bantamweight, has been suspended from boxing in St. Louis for 90 days as a result of having failed to be here 48 hours before his recent bout with Patsy Flanagan in which Epstein was knocked out.

BREAM, M'DONALD IN 12-ROUND JAM

B ABE BREAM, Lima junior lightweight, against Red McDonald, of Toledo, for the main go of the next Lima Gym club card, May 26.

Charley Maxwell, matchmaker, announced Wednesday night that he has come to the decision to bring the boys together at 128 pounds in 12 rounds. Bream's manager, Ed Schlatter, received word to that effect and immediately issued orders to the Babe to start training.

For the semi-windup Maxwell will probably use Johnny Horvath, Mansfield lightweight, against Johnny Lundy, Brockton, Pa. This fight is considered for ten rounds. Lundy is a leather pusher of recognized ability and has handled some of the best of 'em in the aristocratic circles. Horvath is under the management of Johnny Newton.

WEBB, GRANT CONSIDERED

Soldier Webb, who carries the unqualified approval of Sam Jordan, Toledo promoter, is being thought of as an opponent of Sailor Grant, Lima middleweight, in an eight rounder. Grant has been knocking them off with regularity here of late, which led Maxwell to attempt an opponent who is a bit better than any the Sailor has met heretofore.

Jack Verbyke, the great youngster who celebrated his ring debut by knocking off Jack Holland on the last card, will meet some opponent who is yet to be selected. The go will be traveled in six rounds and for a certain raiser Maxwell will use two colored youths—in all probability Lester Simmons and a big boy from Kenon named Halfcock.

It will be a 40-round show and the matchmaker declared it should go over better than any card ever put on here.

LOGICAL CONTENDER

Bream is the acknowledged candidate for the next fight in view of the club's policy to alternate Schlatter and Earl Smith's stables. The process is simple—Jake Gross and Red Young were on the last card, now it's Ed's turn again. Bream's victories over Young Denny in the February card here and in Hamilton make him a desired candidate.

Fans are more than anxious to see what kind of a dupe this Red McDonald is since Gross beat him in Logansport, Ind., April 24. Considerable York's greatest trouble last year was his fielding rather than pitching. A big husky fellow, he found it difficult to field bunts. Opposing teams soon discovered his weakness and made it as uncomfortable as possible for him.

The Cubs no doubt retain a string on Yorke. It is believed a season or two in the minors will overcome his weakness. If he learns to handle bunts he is sure of a major league berth.

HAMILTON TALKS ABOUT OLD DAYS IN MOVIES

(BY ESTHER WAGNER)
An interview with Lloyd Hamilton, the comedian, is like talking to a representative of a past generation, one who lived in the stone age of the films. Hamilton has made more than 300 film comedies. The earliest one he can recall was called "Ham, the Piano Mover." It had a notably cast. In the light of present salaries the members of this cast received notable stipends. They were: Marshall Nellan, director and leading man, $100 a week; Ruth Roland, leading woman, $30; Scena Owen, character, $18; "Bud" Duncan, $30; "Ham" Hamilton, $40; Victor Fleming, assistant cameraman, $12.

The Legion's Spring Carnival

LAST night was newboys night at the Spring Festival. The carriers turned out two hundred strong to be the guests of the American Legion and take in the Dodson & Cherry shows, rides and exhibits. They marched from the public square led by Prof. Scammacca Royal Italian Band. Before proceeding to Murphy Park where the Legion boys entertained the "newbies" the band gave a concert accompanied by Louie, Golly. The boys simply ran riot and kept them in charge on the gut live every minute living them up.

Faurot to Open on Sunday

DOORS of the Faurot Opera House will swing open Sunday afternoon for the first Keith Vaudeville performance ever staged in Lima.

Three big time acts, combined with a rip-roaring high class farce, "Boy Crazy," starring Doris May, have been booked to inaugurate the coming of Keith to this city, fulfilling a desire which theatregoers here have admitted for the past several years.

A corps of workmen began improving the popular playhouse last Monday, and Faurot fans will be pleased to view the new decorations. The mechanical apparatus has been changed, which the new manager, W. D. Clark, believes will result in a big improvement in a more clear vision of the pictures.

W. D. Clark, an experienced showman who came to Lima from Marion, where he operated the Grand Opera House, has been kept on the jump booking the best Keith acts obtainable and securing only the highest class pictures to show with the vaudeville program.

Popular prices will prevail at all shows. Night prices are 50 cents for the lower floor; 40 cents for the first balcony, and 25 cents for the second balcony. Matinee prices for downstairs seats will be 35 cents, and a quarter will be charged for all seats in either balcony. Children under 12 will be admitted at any time for 15 cents to any part of the house.

The first vaudeville act will be Tile and Tide, a comedy novelty, "In the Moonshine Parlor." Nevins and Guhl, the "gloom chasers," in a black-faced act.

The well-known trio of Brown, Gardner and Trahane, have been obtained by Manager Clark after considerable negotiations. They will arrive late Saturday night from Pittsburgh, to present their passing revue of jazzy songs and novelty dances.

All the three acts come highly recommended and have been featured in Keith houses recently.

"Boy Crazy," a comedy novelty, which will follow the vaudeville, is a fleet-footed farce with uproariously funny situations in which Doris May appears at her best.

Acting with her is Harry Myers, the star in "A Connecticut Yankee," and "Turn to the Right."

In two days. Studio shelves often held 12 comedies, a three-months supply.

A script was written for one of the railroad melodramas that used to feature Helen Holmes. It was delivered by mistake to Hamilton and he made a comedy of it.

In the old days, a list of occupations hung in the studio office - baker, butcher, bricklayer, carpenter, chauffeur, plumber, etc. When one comedy was finished the next occupation on the list was taken as the subject.

Hamilton now takes two months to make one comic, whereas he used to make one in two days. Unlike other comedians Hamilton uses no script for his comedies. Only one situation is planned before filming starts. The other "gags" are invented as the production proceeds.

"TWO KINDS OF WOMEN"

You will want to see this picture for no other reason than to glimpse at the truly gorgeous gowns she wears.

It is a lavish, startling film sensation direct from a smashing run on Broadway. Don't miss it.

ONE KIND—entrancingly beautiful, exquisite in evening gowns and slithering hose she outgeneraled her lover in a conflict for his heart.

ANOTHER KIND—in leather chaps, flannel shirt, spurred boots and sombrero, she did a man's work running her million-dollar cattle ranch.

A picture of thoroughbreds—thoroughbred men, thoroughbred women, thoroughbred horses—don't miss it!

SHORT SHAVINGS

William H. Gayton, justice of the peace, bent his knife in a restaurant, called the waitress and said: "I can't cut this meat." "No wonder," she said. "That's a bone you're trying to cut. The meat is on the other side of it."

Manley Sealls was driving out in his fast motor car when his hat blew off. He says now he wishes he had stopped and walked back for it. "I backed up the machine instead," he says, "and ran over the hat."

Leo L. Christen, 673 W. Elm-st., hung out some strings for the birds to use in nest building. Mrs. Christen washed some curtain cords and hung them out on a line to dry. "The birds," he reports, "flew off with the curtain cords."

Edison Lerch, 134 1/2 W. Spring-st., records his experience with the ginger ale made at home by a charming miss he knows. It seems her mind drifted while she was composing this soft beverage and instead of using ginger she used mustard. "It may have been soft," he says, "but it certainly was hot."

PIMPLY? WELL, DON'T BE

People Notice It. Drive Them Off with Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

A pimply face will not embarrass you much longer if you get a package of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. The skin should begin to clear after you have taken the tablets a few nights.

Cleanse the blood, bowels and liver with Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the successful substitute for calomel; there's no sickness or pain after taking them. Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets do that which calomel does, and just as effectively, but their action is gentle and safe instead of severe and irritating.

No one who takes Olive Tablets is ever cursed with a "dark brown taste," a bad breath, a dull, listless, "no good" feeling, constipation, torpid liver, bad disposition or pimply face.

Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound mixed with olive oil; you will know them by their olive color.

Dr. Edwards spent years among patients afflicted with liver and bowel complaints and Olive Tablets are the immensely effective result. Take one or two nightly for a week. See how much better you feel and look. 15c and 30c.
